

Christian Lim - Write Up

Christian started off his career within the engineering field and grew to increase knowledge and experience within the industrial safety industry through his 5 years tenure. After transitioning into a regional role, Christian has the opportunity to connect with safety associations abroad to connect and exchange safety cultures, practices, and struggles alike.

In the past year, Christian has actively posted safety tips and nuggets of information on social media to generate awareness and provide followers with bite-size information about safety, especially within the area of confined space entry. In addition, Christian is providing training to a Philippines-based safety association as a volunteer to improve the safety culture and promote safety knowledge sharing amongst Philippine nationals who are also working with the Middle east region.

As part of his work, Christian networks extensively throughout the ASEAN region to work with associations in hopes to increase and improve safety awareness. This is done through education and roadshows provided by his company. It is his desire that many more will share his belief that safety is not just a law but a lifestyle, creating environments where every worker goes back home safely to their loved ones.
