

Maji Monday Ojofumila

Maji, is the Group Director of Health, Safety, Security, Environment and Quality (HSSEQ) & Sustainability at RSA Global, Dubai. United Arab Emirates.

In this role, he had successfully set and implemented HSSEQ strategy and culture within the organization ensuring health and safety is fully ingrained within all employees as a visible core value.

Maji, is a chartered member of the Institution of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH), holds a master's degree in Occupational Health, Safety and Environment from the University of Greenwich, London, UK.

In his career, he has meticulously mentored and influenced individuals to become Safety Leaders. He always takes up his precious time to share knowledge and pearls of wisdom as regards to health and safety both offline and online. He has successfully helped various organisations to achieve key performance indicators in health and safety hence developing robust safety culture within the organisation. In his current stint with RSA Global, he has put the organisation on a global map in terms of having a robust occupational health and safety strategy of which was awarded Gold by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents (ROSPA).

Maji has played a vital role during the pandemic to find smarter and safe ways of working to ensure that all employees, stakeholders and HSE professionals are given the right support and infrastructure. He also championed different mental health awareness session, townhall meetings and advocated against stigma that surround covid positive employees.

On different occasions, Maji had partnered with Dubai Civil Defence to create awareness of fire safety in home and offices. Additionally, as part of his humanitarian duties to save lives, he had organised different blood donation drive in partnership with Dubai Health Authority to donate blood for Thalassaemia patients who are in constant need of blood in addition to blood required by patients who undergoes open heart surgeries, cancer patients or with bleeding cases.

Maji had been a voice and an advocate in terms of occupational safety and health both offline and online through social media by posting different awareness write ups, events and engagement to help in building safety culture. He had taken much effort to influence contractors and subcontractors working within the Dubai South. He had influenced thousands of people in India where he teaches school children in India on the importance of Road Safety and Road Safe Crossing. He had trained employees and public in India on Fire Safety and conducted different Fire awareness and safe evacuation in UAE and India.

Maji have taken on different speaking roles in conferences and events taking on several health, safety and sustainability topics creating different level of awareness within industry professionals and the general public.