

Santosh Kumar - Write Up

I feel humbled to have an opportunity to do my bit for the development and understanding of fellow EHS professionals by executing the following activities this year. I have done Safety audits as per ISO:45001:2018 standards for more than 57 customers pan India and highlighted the non-conformities in their HSE management system. Now, they have successfully completed their compliance to those gaps and are better prepared to control their risks. The customers include Oil & Gas, Power Plant, Paint Manufacturing, Electronic Parts Manufacturing, Chemical manufacturing, Pharmaceutical, and Polyester Manufacturing industries. I have also conducted safety audits in residential societies of 27 clients in my area and helped them in improving their Fire & Safety systems.

I have shared latest developments and practices including new innovations like Blockchain technology, use of IT-based compliance technology, and EHS monitoring software with my fellow EHS professionals on various WhatsApp groups, LinkedIn and many other platforms. I have shared posts of numerous EHS innovations done or shared by other safety professionals from the Middle East and Africa region. This has benefited a lot of people as reflected by their comments and feedback.

I have done 7 webinars on various EHS groups which include EHS Professionals and shared my EHS knowledge on various platforms. The team members gained a good understanding on various aspects of construction safety, electrical safety, safety audits, etc. I have mentored 5 EHS professionals this year who have benefited from my coaching and are now working independently in reputed companies in India as well as the Middle East.

I have started compiling my knowledge and experience in the EHS domain in the form of a book which is 60% done and in the coming years by God's grace, it will soon be published to benefit EHS professionals worldwide.
